Messages to the Graduands

*While it may look different this year, it is still a time
of celebration.*

From the Chancellor

To the Graduands of 2020:

Congratulations! It is a privilege to serve as your chancellor and to celebrate with you as you graduate and move forward toward your chosen career.

Convocation is an important time to come together as fellow scholars, community members, family, and friends to recognize and celebrate your success. You have learned new ways of looking at the world and gained the knowledge and skills to become the next generation of leaders.

You have accomplished great things, demonstrating a drive and passion that will fuel your path forward. You don't have to look far to find University of Winnipeg graduates leading initiatives, volunteering their time, and championing change that makes an impact locally and globally. This community is there for you, rooting for you, as you launch your career or take the next steps in your post-secondary journey.

We are so proud of you, and know great things are in store for you!

The University of Winnipeg

From the President

Congratulations Graduands!

On behalf of all the faculty and staff who have supported your time at The University of Winnipeg, it is a privilege to celebrate this achievement with you.

You are graduating in unusual times, and while it may look different this year, it is still a time of celebration. It is a time to look back on your accomplishments with pride and to look ahead with anticipation for what is to come.

Whether you are launching a career or pursuing further studies – this is an important milestone on your journey, and we are very proud to have played a role in helping you get to where you are today.

You have learned to think creatively, solve complex problems, collaborate, and communicate effectively with people from diverse backgrounds. These skills are the building blocks of successful careers.

Your UWinnipeg family is a close-knit and diverse community that will continue to celebrate your success, wherever your next steps take you. On behalf of our faculty and staff, congratulations.

James Currie, BSc (Hons), MSc, PhD

Interim President and Vice-Chancellor
The University of Winnipeg

From the Alumni Association

Congratulations Class of 2020!

I am pleased to congratulate the graduating class of 2020 on behalf of the University of Winnipeg Alumni Association. Your hard work and dedication have culminated in this very special day – I am so happy to share in your excitement and proud to acknowledge your success.

I remember with fondness my personal excitement standing on the front lawn of Wesley Hall in the spring of 1971, taking graduation photos with my proud family – no cell phones back then, just an ordinary camera. However, the feelings remain the same. Almost 50 years later, I am proud to be an integral part of this university community.

After today, you will transition from students to alumni. You will join our family of approximately 56,000 individuals who have shared a common turning point in their educational lives: the invaluable experiences of being an important part of this unique urban campus.

The University of Winnipeg community was an important support for you during your student years. By becoming an active member of the Alumni Association, you can remain connected to and supportive of UWinnipeg and its students. Going forward we hope that, through the Alumni Association, you will maintain and enhance your professional and community affiliations.

Though this year has presented us with unique challenges making it difficult to meet in person, we are working hard to develop programs, where possible, that will be offered online. Please stay connected with us so you do not miss our upcoming speaker series.

And remember – as a wise man once said – many years from now you will be more disappointed by the things you didn't do than the things you did. So: explore, dream, discover! From personal experience, I know that you will look back on your time here as your "good old days."

Judith Neumann, BAH '71

Honourees

Honourees

Tantoo Cardinal

CM

Honorary Doctor of Letters

A celebrated actor of First Nations and Métis descent, Tantoo Cardinal has broken barriers for onscreen representations of Indigenous peoples. She has played more than 120 roles on stage and in film and television throughout her nearly 50-year career, blazing a trail for future Indigenous artists.

Her most famous roles include those in multiple Academy Award winner Dances with Wolves and Academy Award nominee Legends of the Fall, along with her U.S. television role in Stumptown on ABC. Her latest feature film, Falls Around Her, directed by Darlene Naponse, premiered at the Toronto International Film Festival in 2018.

She is a member of the Order of Canada and a recipient of the Governor General's Performing Arts Award. She has received a Gemini, an ImagiNATIVE Film Festival People's Choice Award, an Academy of Canadian Cinema and Television Lifetime Achievement Award, and many more accolades.

For her significant contribution to the growth and development of Indigenous performing arts and her advocacy for Indigenous people and for the environment, The University of Winnipeg is proud to bestow an Honorary Doctor of Letters on Tantoo Cardinal.

Honourees

Allan Levine

BA, MA, PhD

Honorary Doctor of Laws

Allan Levine is a passionate, award-winning storyteller who's spent his career bringing history to life and commenting on current events. If you've picked up one of his books, you know they're hard to put down.

Well-known for his work as a historian, writer, and public intellectual, Levine was also an educator for nearly 30 years. He taught history and world issues at St. John's-Ravenscourt School from 1984-2012 and was an instructor with the Asper Foundation Holocaust Education Program from 1999-2012.

In 1987, Levine became a published author – releasing his first book, The Exchange: 100 Years of Trading Grain in Winnipeg. He has written more than a dozen published books, both fiction and non-fiction, and has delved into the historical mystery genre.

However, he's arguably best known for his work covering Jewish history in Canada. In particular, his 2009 book Coming of Age: A History of Jewish People in Manitoba won numerous accolades, including McNally-Robinson Book of the Year,

Best History Book Award at the 2010 Canadian Jewish Book Awards, and co-winner of the J.I. Segal Prize in Canadian Jewish History.

A comprehensive and accessible history of the Jews of Manitoba, Coming of Age reflects what is already known about the community, introduces new material, and casts an eye at the 130-year history of Jews in Manitoba from the earliest days of settlement in 1880 to the present.

Augmenting Levine's work as an author are more than 500 of his comment pieces and reviews, which have appeared in publications such as the Globe and Mail, Maclean's, and the National Post. He has been a columnist with the Winnipeg Free Press since 2010, explaining the history behind current events.

For bringing history to life and sharing his scholarly knowledge with the general public through his prolific writing in newspapers and magazines, The University of Winnipeg is proud to honour Allan Levine with an Honorary Doctor of Laws.

Honourees

Alberto Civetta

BSc, PhD

Erica and Arnold Rogers Award for Excellence in Research and Scholarship

Dr. Alberto Civetta has built an international reputation for research excellence and inspiring mentorship.

Since arriving at The University of Winnipeg two decades ago, he has made significant contributions to the field of evolutionary genetics, and has secured an unbroken chain of funding in the process. He currently holds the largest individual NSERC Discovery Grant at UWinnipeg.

Civetta is a highly respected leader in the field of speciation genetics. He has published countless papers, spoken at international conferences, and served on various editorial boards and grant review panels.

His research led to the identification of a new subspecies of Drosophila (common fruit fly) from what scientists previously believed was a single species. His research group found previously unknown genes that have been associated with male sterility and impaired fertilization capacity. Recently Civetta has collaborated with UWinnipeg biologist Dr. Renee Douville on a research project looking at the role of endogenous retroviruses in Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS).

His expertise has been sought by the Manitoba Health Research Council and Research Manitoba. He serves on NSERC's Discovery Grant Review Committee on Genes, Cells, and Molecules, and has been sought to serve in the Canada Research Coordinating Committee's multi-disciplinary review panel for the New Frontiers in Research Fund Exploration 2019 competition.

Civetta is known for generously sharing information with and encouragement of colleagues and students. He has provided invaluable mentorship and support to many students publishing for the first time. His students have had great success securing funding for further training, including one former grad student completing a PhD at Harvard. He is passionate about inspiring future scientists – volunteering annually with Science Rendezvous and encouraging his students to join him in community science outreach.

The University of Winnipeg is proud to present Dr. Alberto Civetta with the Erica and Arnold Rogers Award for Excellence in Research and Scholarship for his exceptional track record of producing top-quality, interesting, and highly respected research that increases our understanding of speciation genetics.

Honourees

Carlos Colorado

BA, MA, PhD

Marsha Hanen Award for Excellence in Creating Community Awareness

Carlos Colorado is an associate professor in the Department of Religion and Culture. During his exemplary career at UWinnipeg, he has emerged as a campus leader and public intellectual, with a visionary commitment to bringing the academy and community together.

As founder of the Centre for the Liberal Arts and Secular Society (CLASS) research network and the Axworthy Distinguished Lecture Series (ALS), Colorado has helped raise UWinnipeg's international profile. With a focus on social justice and the public good, ALS brings global thought leaders – such as Cornel West, Jane Goodall, Edward Snowden, Linda Tuhiwai Smith, and Slavoj Žižek – to the University for free public engagements.

Colorado's teaching and research consistently seek to help students gain a deeper understanding of religion and culture through literature and film. His feature-length documentary, The Good Life: Decolonizing the Secular (2018), illustrates his commitment to building conversations among scholars, politicians, activists, and other community stakeholders, while enabling UWinnipeg students to gain hands-on filmmaking skills. The film thoughtfully engages the question of religion in Canadian public life and contributes to the national conversation on decolonization and religious expression in Canada today.

In fall 2016, Colorado was appointed Chair of the Board of Directors at the Jane Goodall Institute of Canada (JGIC). This engagement enables UWinnipeg to collaborate in educational and sustainable research while offering opportunities for students and faculty to contribute to the important work at JGIC.

In recognition of his dynamic research, service, teaching, and public engagement – which have enriched the lives of students and scholars, enhanced the institution's reputation, and deepened public discourse – the University of Winnipeg honours Carlos Colorado with the Marsha Hanen Award for Excellence in Community Service

James Hanley

BSc, MSc, MA, PhD

Robin H. Farquhar Award for Excellence in Contribution to Self-Governance

James Hanley's career at the University of Winnipeg is marked by his commitment to equity in governance and for his role in facilitating initiatives that directly impacted Indigenous representation. Hanley also made his mark with a sustained involvement in the University of Winnipeg Faculty Association (UWFA), assuming a variety of roles that prioritized the workplace welfare of university members.

He was appointed Chair of the Department of History in 2015 and served on nine different university committees, as well as various search and evaluation committees – lauded by his peers for using his contributions to matters outside of his own department. He has served UWFA in one capacity or another for nearly his entire career, perhaps most importantly in his eight-year term as Chair of the Workplace Safety and Health Committee (WSHC). Hanley's work on the WSHC may have gone unnoticed by the broader university community, but he is a relentless believer in fighting for the safety and rights of faculty, staff, and students.

In the community, Hanley's voice has been prominent in pushing back on anti-science rhetoric – via lectures aimed at promoting informed public opinion. He's taken on speaking engagements to lecture on evolution and against climate change denialism.

Decisions made in Hanley's purview always involved ample consultation with those most impacted. He believes greatly in a democratic approach that incorporates the ideas and feedback of those around him.

For his commitment to the betterment of education, work behind the scenes for the rights of all on campus, and open-minded approach to collegial governance, the University of Winnipeg is proud to honour Dr. James Hanley with the Robin H. Farquhar Award for Excellence in Contributing to Self-Governance.

Honourees

Lloyd Kornelsen

BEd, MAdEd, PhD

Clifford J. Robson Memorial Award for Teaching Excellence

Dr. Lloyd Kornelsen is a committed educator who works tirelessly to connect with and inspire others.

A member of the Faculty of Education, Acting Executive Director of Global College, and Director of UWinnipeg's Bachelor of Arts in Human Rights, he wears many hats. Consistent in each of these roles is his belief in the power of education to positively transform lives.

Many have written that being in his class was a turning point in their lives. One former student stated "Lloyd brings his whole person into the classroom. In doing so he opens up a space for his students to do the same, and it is here where transformative learning begins."

Kornelsen played an important role in developing the UWinnipeg's Human Rights program, providing expertise in first-year curriculum design, experiential learning, and community outreach.

His ability to turn practicum experience into a transformative student experience that highlights human rights issues is evident in his book Stories of Transformation: Memories of a Global Citizenship Practicum, which recounts a 2003 practicum in Costa Rica. His research into what this experience means for global citizenship education led to a 2013 Manitoba Education Research Network award, recognizing his ability to explore the intersection of experiential learning, international practicums, and global citizenship and profoundly impact student lives.

In addition to inspiring students, Dr. Kornelsen advocates for advancing human rights pedagogy through engaging with learning communities, locally and internationally. There are few scholars who have done as much to improve the teaching of human rights at all levels. He has influenced countless school teachers, post-secondary teachers, and students around the world with his tireless efforts to introduce them to democratic citizenship in a globalizing world.

Dr. Lloyd Kornelsen is a gifted university teacher and educational leader. The University of Winnipeg is proud to present him with the Clifford J. Robson Memorial Award for Teaching Excellence.

Honourees

Valerie McKinley

BA (Hons), MA

Clarence Atchison Award for Community Service

Valerie McKinley, curator of The University of Winnipeg's Anthropology Museum and Collections, embodies best practices in academic excellence, social responsibility, and community engagement. For over 15 years she has given voice to the hundreds of pieces in the numerous collections at UWinnipeg, with integrity and discipline.

Countless students have been touched by McKinley's natural ability to care and engage respectfully. McKinley has opened the many collections to students of multiple disciplines and introduced the concept of open labs where students can come together to peer-mentor and quench their intellectual thirst. The restoration of provenance to the collections has made them a more accessible and valuable University asset.

Going above and beyond her responsibilities, McKinley has been a forerunner of reconciliation at UWinnipeg. Working in the background, she is building and restoring relationships between the University and Indigenous communities by caring for Indigenous ancestors who are housed at the University.

While ancestors remain at UWinnipeg, McKinley provides sensitive, kind, and culturally appropriate care. In partnership with the offices of Indigenous Engagement and the Vice President of Finance and Administration, McKinley created a beautiful space and proper housing for the ancestors, with an adjacent room to welcome Indigenous community members.

She also facilitates repatriation of ancestors and heritage materials to Indigenous communities, which is an important step in reconciliation. In conjunction with the Manitoba Historic Resources Branch, and through careful and respectful processes, McKinley participates in the return of ancestors, where possible, and to ensure their care until repatriation occurs. With support from the Manitoba Museum, the repatriation of heritage objects to an indigenous community has also been an important part of McKinley's endeavours.

Humanism pervades McKinley's work, as seen in efforts to take the University into other communities. She has visited seniors' complexes and schools, and has participated in community programs such as Wii Chiwaakanak Learning Centre's Let's Speak Cree/Anishinaabemowin, the University's Science Rendezvous, and the Skywalk Lecture Series. She has also facilitated workshops for community groups such as Drag the Red, which helps to recover remains of Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women by searching the river and riverbank.

In recognition of her service to students, the city, and Indigenous communities, The University of Winnipeg honours Valerie McKinley with the Clarence Atchison Award for Excellence in Community Service.

Honourees

Deb Bradley

BEEd (4 Year)

Stars of Spence Street Award

Deb Bradley truly encapsulates the spirit of the Stars of Spence Street Award. Her passion for supporting students as they achieve their dreams is second to none.

You'll often find Deb on campus bright and early at 7:00 am – well before her she's scheduled to be in for work – replying to student emails before getting started for the day. That's just who she is.

For nearly 30 years, Deb has been the face of the Faculty of Education: first as a receptionist and then as a student advisor. In her decades of dedicated service, she's had a huge impact on the lives of countless students, many of whom are now teachers in our schools.

Whether it's during Future Student Night, Open House, sessions for the Transfer Program, or Orientation, Deb is often the first person students meet on their academic journeys to becoming educators.

Ken McCluskey, prior Dean of Education, says her infectious, upbeat tone and tireless work ethic makes her one of a kind, and that her commitment to and passion for guiding teachers of the future has never waned.

Deb always goes out of her way to meet with each and every student enrolled in the Faculty of Education's Integrated Program. While she formally serves as an academic advisor, she's also a mentor, confidant, and wise guide for students.

Outside of advising, Deb sits on the Senate Appeals Committee to guide students through the appeal process by helping them gather documentation and present their cases to the committee. She also serves on the Faculty of Education's Performance Review Committee, reviewing the academic performance of students and making decisions about their academic futures.

For always going above and beyond to help her students and colleagues, The University of Winnipeg is proud to honour Deb Bradley with the Stars of Spence Street Award. Her kindness, dedication, and generosity make her a truly worthy recipient.

Honourees

Gabor Kunstatter

BSc, MSc, PhD

Professor Emeritus

Gabor Kunstatter is a highly reputed scientist, scholar, teacher, and administrator. He is considered an authority in gravitation theory, especially in the areas of black hole physics and quantum gravity. He has served in a range of academic positions – including as departmental chair and the Dean of Science – while teaching, supervising students, and doing research with rigour.

Kunstatter's research on exotic black holes shed light on fundamental problems of gravitation theory and also serves as a testing ground to study interactions between gravity and quantum fields in extreme conditions. His work illuminates the fundamental problem of gravity that has been puzzling theoreticians for the past century.

Kunstatter is well regarded in the international physics community. He has co-edited seven proceedings of national and international conferences and authored 138 journal papers, including his highly cited single-authored paper "d-Dimensional Black Hole Entropy from Quasi-Normal Modes," which was published in the prestigious Physical Review Letters and established his scientific mark. A second-year physics textbook that he wrote will be published this year.

During his career, Kunstatter received an impressive total of $1.27 million for theoretical physics, via Discovery Grants from the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada (NSERC). He has nationally influenced his field by serving as president of the Canadian Association of Physicists and chairing the Space and Astronomy NSERC review committee.

Most notably, Kunstatter has been influential to many undergraduate, graduate, doctoral, and post-doctoral students. With his blend of sharp wit, clear exposition, and genuine concern for the welfare of his students, Kunstatter provided them with opportunities to conduct research and he encouraged them to publish early in their careers. The training of new researchers is one of his most enduring contributions as a scientist – many of Kunstatter's students have succeeded all over the world.

In appreciation of his scholarly work, teaching, university service, and knowledge mobilization, The University of Winnipeg is proud to honour Gabor Kunstatter as Professor Emeritus.

Honourees

Jim Silver

BA, MA, PhD

Professor Emeritus

Jim Silver has been a visionary program builder during his three decades at The University of Winnipeg – bridging the gap between community and university by establishing a presence in Winnipeg's north end.

Silver was an integral part of the team that redeveloped the old Merchants Hotel on Selkirk Avenue into Merchants Corner: an innovative education, community, and housing hub. The complex is now home to 30 units of affordable housing; the Community Education Development Association's Pathways to Education program; and the Department of Urban and Inner-City Studies, where Silver formerly served as departmental chair and currently is a professor.

Publishing research extensively on urban poverty and inner-city issues, Silver has a long history of working with community-based organizations in the city. His unique collaborative approach means research is always conducted with – not for – members of inner-city and urban Indigenous communities.

Silver's prolific scholarly work and research has garnered respect across the country and from the communities focused in that research. During his time at UWinnipeg, he published 15 peer-reviewed books, 40 peer-reviewed book chapters and journal articles, and more than 100 non-peer-reviewed articles.

A founding member of the Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives-Manitoba, Silver has also been a key figure in four multi-million dollar Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC) grants.

He has been recognized by UWinnipeg for his dedicated work on three different occasions. He received the Clifford J. Robson Award for Excellence in Teaching in 1985, the Clarence Atchison Award for Community Service in 1997, as well as the Erica and Arnold Rogers Award for Excellence in Research and Scholarship in 2007.

He has been the recipient of numerous community awards, including the Joe Zuken Citizen Activist Award in 1997 and the Queen Elizabeth Diamond Jubilee Medal for contributions to the inner city in 2013.

For his unwavering commitment to decolonizing the university and community through his important work, The University of Winnipeg is proud to honour Jim Silver as Professor Emeritus. As an intellectual leader on matters of primary community significance, Silver has left an indelible mark across all of Winnipeg.

Honourees

Murray Wiegand

BSc (Hons), PhD

Professor Emeritus

Remembered as a committed researcher and resourceful teacher, Dr. Murray Wiegand devoted more than 30 years of service to the University of Winnipeg's Department of Biology prior to his retirement in August 2019.

Wiegand completed a post-doctoral fellowship at Memorial University in St. John's, Newfoundland prior to arriving at UWinnipeg in 1984.

While Wiegand put a particular focus on work surrounding fish lipids and the reproductive physiology of freshwater fish, he further distinguished himself with an unrelenting commitment to his work. His versatility was also of note, having adeptly navigated the broad curriculum that the Department of Biology offers and teaching in multiple aspects of it along the way.

In the latter portion of his time at UWinnipeg, Wiegand assumed stewardship of the department's honours program as a major part of his teaching responsibilities in the undergraduate program. He welcomed the challenge – and the opportunity to guide students from their undergraduate work to independent research – with open arms, a trait for which he had become known during his decades of service.

Wiegand also devoted himself to issues outside his classroom for the benefit of the university; he served on numerous departmental and institutional committees and as coordinator of the Biochemistry program. He also served as trustee of the University of Winnipeg Pension Plan, a role in which he is continuing after retirement.

Wiegand earned a reputation among colleagues as a well-rounded academic who enjoyed a challenge, and also as a diligent researcher who prioritized accuracy and generation of reliable data.

For his diverse body of work and his steadfast commitment to the betterment of both the Department of Biology and the students whose lives he impacted, the University of Winnipeg is proud to honour Dr. Murray Wiegand as Professor Emeritus.

Honourees

David Fitzpatrick

PhD, MEd, MEd, BEd, Ed. Cert., BPE

Fellowship in United College

David Fitzpatrick established an award-winning legacy at the University of Winnipeg over a 25-year career in which he contributed to many significant developments across campus.

After distinguishing himself as a teacher in the Winnipeg School Division, and a physical education consultant at the Department of Education, Fitzpatrick joined UWinnipeg in 1990. He began as an instructor-rank faculty member in the Physical Activity and Sport Studies (PASS) program and after completing his PhD, was named an associate professor, and later full professor.

After PASS was restructured as a department, Fitzpatrick sat as the department's first Chair until 2004 when he was recruited to take on the role of Associate Dean of Arts. He eventually became the Dean of Arts and held that distinguished position until 2012.

Fitzpatrick returned to his roots in 2012 with an appointment as the founding Dean of the Faculty of Kinesiology. That role provided unprecedented responsibility for Fitzpatrick, who was tasked not only with guiding a new faculty through its infancy, but also the substantial duty of overseeing, with others, the design and construction of what would become the Axworthy Health and RecPlex.

The RecPlex initiative was a profound infrastructure development for the campus and Fitzpatrick played a major role in guiding the university through many challenges. The multisport facility has become a centrepiece on campus and in the community, and serves as a testament to Fitzpatrick's commitment and attention to detail.

Fitzpatrick's reputation as a fair-minded contributor to a variety of committees and task forces on campus earned him the 2015 Robin H. Farquhar Award for Excellence in Contributing to Self-Governance.

Fitzpatrick took pride in his teaching, specifically the development and delivery of courses in motor behaviour, an area of study in kinesiology. He had an active research program, focussing on children and youth with disabilities, in particular, Developmental Coordination Disorder – and was a co-recipient of a major SSHRC grant.

For a multi-faceted career that contributed greatly to a burgeoning era for the university's campus and its academics, the University of Winnipeg is pleased to honour David Fitzpatrick with Fellowship in United College.

Honourees

Tina Keeper

BA

Distinguished Alumni Award

Tina Keeper is from the Inninuak of Norway House Cree Nation in the Treaty 5 territory and of the Muskrat Dam First Nation of the Treaty 9 territory. She is a film, television, and theatre producer; actor; advocate; and former Member of Parliament.

Her passion for the arts was influenced by her culture, and she explored theatre at the Winnipeg Indian and Métis Friendship Centre back in 1980, and through the acting program at The University of Winnipeg. She has a BA in theatre from The University of Winnipeg and trained at the Centre for Indigenous Theatre, the Banff Centre, and the Sundance Institute.

Keeper won a Gemini award for acting in 1997 for her portrayal of RCMP Officer Michelle Kenidi in the long-running television series North of 60. She was the first Indigenous person to win a Gemini for a leading role on a TV series in Canada.

As an Honorary Witness for the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, Keeper co-produced the Royal Winnipeg Ballet's highly acclaimed ballet Going Home Star, guided by Indian Residential School Survivors.

Keeper served as a Member of Parliament for the federal riding of Churchill from 2006-2008. She was the first Indigenous woman to serve as a Member of Parliament from Manitoba. In 2008, she introduced a Private Member's Bill into the House that would ensure Canadian laws are consistent with the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, and introduced a Private Member's Bill regarding Jordan's Principle to address First Nations children's healthcare in Canada.

She serves on the board of directors for the Academy of Canadian Cinema and Television, is an Honorary Witness for the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, and is a member of the Manitoba Coalition for MMIWG and 2SILGBTQ, the Order of Manitoba, and Canadians for a New Partnership.

Keeper is a recipient of an Aboriginal Achievement Award, a Gemini Award, a Canadian Civil Liberties Association award for Public Engagement, a Governor General's Meritorious Service Medal, and the Earl Grey Lifetime Achievement Award.

With her lifetime of work in the arts, politics, and advocacy, Tina Keeper is a role model and source of inspiration to all Manitobans. In acknowledgement of her many impressive accomplishments, The University of Winnipeg Alumni Association is proud to recognize Tina Keeper with its highest honour: the Distinguished Alumni Award.

Honourees

Keelan Dagdick

BA (Honours)

Valedictorian

Keelan Dagdick is passionate about rural economic development and strengthening rural communities. She hopes to empower under-represented groups by continuing to advocate for inclusive economic growth.

Dagdick was drawn to UWinnipeg for the small class sizes, and flourished as an award-winning student that earned her many scholarships – including the prestigious Dr. and Mrs. Roderick Hunter Scholarship.

Studying in two male-dominated fields, economics and computer science, she is changing the landscape and hopes to eliminate the gender gap. Dagdick also enjoys data analysis and manipulation in computer science, which she discovered after taking an econometrics course, tying her two interests together.

Dagdick enjoyed her introductory classes in microeconomics and macroeconomics which opened up an opportunity for her to intern at Western Economic Diversification Canada (WD). While at WD, Dagdick assisted with rural economic development and was able to see the real-world impact of economics first-hand, which solidified her decision to choose economics as a career path.

Despite Dagdick's busy academic schedule and work at WD, she still found time for community. She was active in several extra-curricular activities on campus that she credits with improving her university experience.

"I met like-minded students who were passionate about economics and committed to creating a community," said Dagdick. "My love for economics has extended past my education and has influenced my decision to support others in their studies."

Dagdick served as the first female president for UWinnipeg's Finance and Economics Students' Association (FESA) and developed a Vice-President of Academic Services position. Through this position, she created a tutoring centre which assists students in their studies.

"For me, it was about so much more than putting on events, I wanted to grow the community and create momentum that would expand beyond my time at the University of Winnipeg" she said.

Dagdick is currently working as a policy analyst/economist at WD and is considering graduate studies in her future.

Honourees

Cale Plett

BA

Valedictorian

It was a single class that turned Cale Plett's initial notions around and led him to pursue his passion at The University of Winnipeg.

Plett (he/they) will graduate with a BA English (Creative Writing) after four years applied to studies at UWinnipeg, but that wasn't always the path he felt he was destined to follow.

"I wasn't planning on studying English and then I had Intro English with Jonathan Ball in my first year at UW and I thought 'wait, this is exactly what I want to be doing,'" said Plett.

Plett lauded UWinnipeg's creative writing program and said it led to a more intensive study of the craft. Plett's works of poetry have since been printed in a wide variety of publications – including UWinnipeg's literary journal juice and eclectic quarterly Grain Magazine out of Saskatchewan, and will soon be seen in CV2, the nationally recognized Winnipeg literary journal.

Plett plans to pursue post-graduate schooling, but for now the focus is on rest, a concept that can be easily overlooked while toiling through the stresses of the world.

"I would describe myself as a writer; I would describe myself as an ally. And my project right now is learning to rest, which is different than learning to stop moving," Plett said.

"You can spend a lot of time in university trying to prove how smart you are and sometimes in there you forget how to listen to people and remember how much you don't know."

Honourees

Jennifer Schreibmaier

BSc (4 Year)

Valedictorian

It was her love of sports that, at least partially, helped Jen Schreibmaier find her path in post-secondary learning.

Schreibmaier was passionate about competition and athletics while in high school at Mennonite Brethren Collegiate Institute. Self-described as accident prone, she suffered some injuries along the way that convinced her she could have a purpose in helping others.

"The fields of health and medicine and the healthcare field in general were always very interesting to me. My past history of growing up playing sports and having injuries myself led me to want to help other people who were in the same position and want to get back to their daily activities," Schreibmaier said.

She spent two seasons as an athletic therapist with the Wesmen women's volleyball program and grew through that experience.

"Having been with the same team for multiple seasons helped me understand working with a sports team specifically," she said. "Working with them the first year, I was nervous and didn't know exactly what I was doing but then I grew with them and grew my own skills and relationships with them and that helped me branch out. I came to realize how important a role athletic therapy plays with sports teams."

Graduating with a four-year Bachelor of Science (Athletic Therapy) degree, Schreibmaier moves on to the University of Manitoba, where she been accepted into the Master of Physical Therapy program.

A World of Diversity

Our campus is a place of inclusion and the diversity of our student population is a tremendous strength. While some of our students grew up around the corner, others come from First Nations and Treaty areas across Manitoba, from provinces across Canada, and from communities around the globe who have come here to learn and grow – and we are proud to help them prepare for a bright future and get ready to make their mark on the world.
