Messages to the Graduands

*While it may look different this year, it is still a time
of celebration.*

From the Chancellor

To the Graduands of 2021:

Congratulations! It is a privilege to serve as your chancellor and to celebrate with you as you graduate and move forward toward your chosen career.

Convocation is an important time to come together as fellow scholars, community members, family, and friends to recognize and celebrate your success. You have learned new ways of looking at the world and gained the knowledge and skills to become the next generation of leaders.

You have accomplished great things, demonstrating a drive and passion that will fuel your path forward. You don't have to look far to find University of Winnipeg graduates leading initiatives, volunteering their time, and championing change that makes an impact locally and globally. This community is there for you, rooting for you, as you launch your career or take the next steps in your post-secondary journey.

We are so proud of you, and know great things are in store for you!

Barb Gamey

Chancellor

The University of Winnipeg

From the President

Congratulations Graduands!

On behalf of The University of Winnipeg community, it is my honour to congratulate you on your accomplishments and welcome you to the grad class of 2021.

Whether you are establishing your career, pursuing further studies, or taking time to pause and consider your options – you have reached an important milestone on your journey and are well-prepared for success.

While keeping focused on your goals and completing the courses necessary to finish your degree during this unsettled time, you have demonstrated the skills necessary to navigate the road ahead. In the process, you built character and revealed inner strengths.

As you embark on this next stage of your life, you will need to continue to work hard and be thoughtful about your choices. I encourage you to approach the unknown with curiosity. Push yourself to try new things and be confident that you have what it takes to succeed.

Your education has shaped your perspectives and equipped you to be the kind of decision-maker – the kind of leader – that our world needs. The knowledge, insights, and friendships you have gained here will serve you well for decades to come.

The University of Winnipeg is a close-knit and diverse community that will continue to celebrate your success. I encourage you to stay connected.

Congratulations!

James Currie, BSc (Hons), MSc, PhD

Interim President and Vice-Chancellor
The University of Winnipeg

From the Alumni Association

Congratulations Class of 2021!

As President of the University of Winnipeg Alumni Association, I am pleased to offer my congratulations on behalf of our Association to the graduating class of 2021. Your hard work and dedication have culminated in this very special day and I am so happy to share in your excitement and proud to acknowledge your success.

Today marks not only your graduation, but your membership in the University of Winnipeg Alumni Association. You will join our alumni family of approximately 56,000 individuals who have shared a common turning point in their educational lives – the invaluable experiences of being an important part of this unique urban campus. Almost 50 years ago I felt the same excitement on becoming a part of this great community and I am still proud to remain an integral part of it today.

The University of Winnipeg campus community was an important support for you during your student years. By becoming an active member of the Alumni Association, you can remain connected to and supportive of the University of Winnipeg and its students. Going forward, we hope that, through the Alumni Association, you will maintain and enhance your professional and community affiliations.

One of the more exciting initiatives that our Alumni Council has been working on with our university partners this past year is how to achieve and enhance alumni engagement. Nothing is more important to us than reaching out, getting to know, and working with our alumni. The last number of Convocations, like this one, didn't allow us to meet you in person and proudly hand you your Alumni Association pin and membership card, but we will ensure that as soon as the campus opens up, we will find a way.

In the meantime, we have endeavored to reach out to you via many different social media sites, e-mail and our e-newsletter. We have been offering our speaker series via webinar, and have an exciting line up of potential speakers for our 2021/2022 year. Please stay connected with us so you do not miss our programs. And feel free to contact our alumni office with ideas on how we can do more for you, our alumni. We cherish your input and the long-lasting relationships that will result.

Honourees

Honourees

Sandra DeLaronde

MA

Honorary Doctor of Laws

Sandra DeLaronde is a champion of social change who works tirelessly to amplify the voices of Indigenous people in Manitoba. Raised in a strong and vibrant Métis family, she is a member of Cross Lake First Nation with roots at the Métis settlement of Duck Bay.

A passionate community builder, DeLaronde has made it her life's work to end violence and support the families of Missing and Murdered Women, Girls, and 2-Spirited persons (MMIWG2S). As co-chair of Manitoba's MMIWG2S Coalition, she is a powerful voice for Manitoba families in the Commission of a National Inquiry into Murdered and Missing Indigenous Women, Girls and 2-Spirited Persons, ensuring the hearts of families and survivors are honoured and protected.

She played an instrumental role in developing and managing the Helen Betty Osborne Memorial Scholarship, which was established in 2000 to honour the life and legacy of its namesake, who was murdered in The Pas in 1976. This scholarship has delivered over $1 million in direct bursary support to hundreds of First Nations, Métis, and Inuit students pursuing post-secondary education in Manitoba.

DeLaronde worked closely with The University of Winnipeg's Office of Indigenous Affairs to incorporate Star Blanket teachings into the campus – integrating a Star Blanket mural on the Helen Betty Osborne building and as a theme throughout convocations and the Spring Feast.

DeLaronde is generous in sharing her knowledge and culture with others. As head woman for the Oyate Wiwanyang Wacipi (Sundance) and the Heart of the White Buffalo Moondance, she plays a vital role in strengthening Indigenous ceremony, practice, and tradition.

Whether heading a project or chairing a heated meeting of diverse perspectives, DeLaronde leads with a combination of authority, generosity, and empathy that bridges difficult conversations and influences change. This is evident in her work with national, provincial, and local women's and Aboriginal women's organizations in support of community development, cultural reclamation, and reconciliation.

For her dedication to amplifying the voices of the Indigenous community and her leadership in supporting the families of Missing and Murdered Women, Girls, and 2-Spirited persons, The University of Winnipeg proudly bestows an Honorary Doctor of Laws on Sandra DeLaronde.

Honourees

Thomas Denton

CM, OM, CD, BA, LLB, LLD, FSJC

Honorary Doctor of Laws

Throughout a remarkable, varied, and decorated career, Thomas Denton has left an indelible mark on the city, province, and country in myriad ways, none greater than his ceaseless efforts to improve the lives of the oppressed and marginalized who have sought a higher station of life in Canada.

A graduate of Acadia University and Dalhousie University's School of Law, Denton found his calling in 1984 when the International Centre of Winnipeg sought to replace its executive director. Denton – who served 14 years in the Royal Canadian Naval Reserves, from which he retired as Lieutenant-Commander and for which he received the Canadian Forces Decoration – assumed the role and became the face of refugee sponsorship in Manitoba.

Through his work, he helped reshape Winnipeg's downtown core into one of the most welcoming and culturally diverse in Canada, created transitional housing for those arriving in the city, and doggedly fought for government support of subsidized housing. But Denton was more than a behind-the-scenes figure to those he helped. He has been personally involved in the settling of more than 40,000 individuals in Canada and has at times been a one-man welcoming committee – on hand to greet many of those whose first destination was Winnipeg. After departing International Centre of Winnipeg at the turn of the millennium, Denton continued his work as a policy consultant and as executive director of the non-government organization Hospitality House Refugee Ministry.

Denton has been an integral contributor to the arts community in Winnipeg. In 1980, following the closure of the Winnipeg Tribune, he became the founding publisher of the Winnipeg Sun, a post he retained until its sale in 1983. Additionally, he was among the trustees who successfully endeavoured to save the Winnipeg Symphony. A generous volunteer who served on numerous committees, commissions, and boards – including those of the Prairie Theatre Exchange, Stage West, Royal Manitoba Theatre Centre, Walker Theatre, and Manitoba Museum – Denton was also the first chairperson of the City of Winnipeg Arts Council.

For his tireless commitment to humanitarian efforts and advocacy for human rights, in addition to his services to Winnipeg's arts community, The University of Winnipeg proudly bestows an Honorary Doctor of Laws on Thomas Denton.

Honourees

Patricia Parker

BA, MA, PhD

Honorary Doctor of Laws

For more than 40 years, Dr. Patricia Parker has been a dedicated and innovative educator, academic, scholar, and author. Her ties to The University of Winnipeg date back to 1967, when she graduated from United College. After receiving her MA in English at the University of Toronto, Parker taught for three years in Tanzania as a CUSO volunteer, first for the Ministry of Education and then as a lecturer at the University of East Africa. After completing her PhD in Comparative Literature at Yale, she returned to the University of Toronto where she taught for 11 years.

In 1986, she was invited to Stanford as Visiting Professor and has been a permanent professor at the institution in English and Comparative Literature since 1988.

Parker is the author of four books: Inescapable Romance: Studies in the Poetics of a Mode; Literary Fat Ladies: Rhetoric, Gender, Property; Shakespeare from the Margins: Language, Culture, Context; and Shakespearean Intersections: Language, Contexts, Critical Keywords. She's also the co-editor of five collections of essays covering criticism, theory, race, and cultural studies.

Known as one of the most original interpreters of Shakespeare, Parker's Shakespeare from the Margins placed her at the centre of Shakespearean studies after insisting his language must be interpreted from diverse perspectives, including race, religion, sexuality, and gender. UWinnipeg English Chair Brandon Christopher said that Parker's third book "cemented her reputation as one of the most important and insightful scholars in Shakespeare studies," while her fourth book "is dazzling in its clarity and its ambition, taking the reader on a seamless exploration of both the specificity of language as it was used in Shakespeare's plays and the complex web of culture out of which that language emerged."

Parker has made it her mission to bring literature to those outside the university by organizing public festivals and working with students to create performance-based programs within the community. Most notably, she's the editor of the nearly two-million-word Stanford Global Shakespeare Encyclopedia, which will be launched in 2021-22 as an open-access online resource for students, scholars, and the public.

A sought-after speaker, Parker has lectured all over the world, from France, Germany, and Spain, to Australia, New Zealand, and the Czech Republic. She has also been a Gauss Seminar lecturer at Princeton, was a Shakespeare's Birthday lecturer at Folger Shakespeare Library, and was named a Northrop Frye Professor in Literary Theory at the University of Toronto.

For her contribution to a generation of students, her masterful scholarship, and for championing the place of literature inside and outside post-secondary institutions, The University of Winnipeg is proud to bestow an Honorary Doctor of Laws on Patricia Parker.

Honourees

Chris Bidinosti BSc, MSc, PhD

Chris Henry BSc, MSc, PhD

Erica and Arnold Rogers Award for Excellence in Research and Scholarship

Dr. Christopher Bidinosti and Dr. Christopher Henry are visionary researchers whose combined expertise and commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration is advancing digital agriculture and driving innovation.

Both as individual researchers and as a team, they have forged successful industry-academia partnerships that have opened doors to the development of new technologies that wouldn't be possible without their combined talents in physics and applied computer science.

Dr. Bidinosti's research centres around novel methods of nuclear magnetic resonance and its application in diverse fields such as medical imaging and fundamental physics.

Dr. Henry's expertise is in the development of theoretical frameworks that model human perception for machine learning applications.

It has been close to a decade since the pair began working together, united by a mutual interest in GPU-based computing and their shared understanding of its capacity to solve problems that impact every domain of research and industry. A hallway conversation led to an ongoing research partnership and the development of a state-of-the-art computing laboratory that is home to a large and successful research program with 20 researchers across five disciplines, collaborations with approximately 12 industry partners, and more than $3 million in funding.

Their shared vision of creating a high-quality, labelled image database that is accessible to industry and academy and can be used to train computers and robots to recognize prairie crops will have a profound impact on local and global food production for generations to come.

For their unique and innovative multi-disciplinary collaboration, The University of Winnipeg is proud to present Dr. Christopher Bidinosti and Dr. Christopher Henry with the Erica and Arnold Rogers Award for Excellence in Research and Scholarship.

Honourees

Eliakim Sibanda

BA, MA, MA, PhD, PhD, DipEd

Marsha Hanen Award for Excellence in Creating Community Awareness

Eliakim M. Sibanda is a globally acclaimed advocate for human rights, peace, and justice. His knowledge and community engagement have enriched the university community, our neighbourhoods, and beyond.

An eminently qualified intellectual, Sibanda has been pivotal in developing several notable Masters programs at UWinnipeg. He helped create The University of Winnipeg's Global College, helped establish the BA in Human Rights and Global Studies – the first in Western Canada – and was instrumental to the establishment of the Oral History Centre at UWinnipeg. He also played a pivotal role in establishing the joint UWinnipeg/Winnipeg Art Gallery Chair in History of Indigenous Arts in North America, the first of its kind in Canada.

Known for his humour and supportive, friendly manner, Sibanda has maintained an impressive track record at UWinnipeg as a leader. He has served on several important campus committees and possesses an ability to negotiate different perspectives that result in consensus. In addition to hosting Black History Month, Sibanda has brought many gifted scholars to campus, enriching the UWinnipeg community and promoting cross-cultural understanding.

Sibanda has been a visiting professor at institutions around the world and an external examiner in both local and international universities. He has been an invited speaker to three continents, including Africa, on a range of issues that focus on peace, justice, and human rights advocacy – helping to raise UWinnipeg's profile abroad.

Locally, Sibanda generously volunteers his time to foster community awareness among different groups in Manitoba, including several refugee and new immigrant organizations. He has served as an academic advisor to African communities across the province and helped establish the African Communities of Manitoba Scholarship. He also mentors many students and is involved with youth development programs that deal with a range of topics, including gang violence.

For his exceptional scholarship, mentorship, and tireless community engagement, The University of Winnipeg proudly honours Eliakim Sibanda with the Marsha Hanen Award for Excellence in Creating Community Awareness

Honourees

Anna Stokke

BSc, MSc, PhD

Clifford J. Robson Memorial Award for Teaching Excellence

Dr. Anna Stokke is an ambassador for math education whose high standard of teaching and research inspires student success.

Her commitment to teaching excellence has been recognized with a series of awards, including most recently a 2021 3M National Teaching Fellowship – Canada's most prestigious recognition of excellence in post-secondary teaching and educational leadership. She balances innovative classroom teaching with community service, a high level of administrative leadership, NSERC-funded research, and media availability for interviews on math education.

Stokke is a gifted educator who goes out of her way to create an engaging atmosphere in which students excel. Whether mentoring advanced math majors undertaking complicated research projects or teaching first-year students, she incorporates techniques like scaffolding to introduce new concepts in incremental steps that allow students to experience success faster. On her public YouTube channel, she posts videos of herself working through math problems for viewing by her own students as well as those in other classes.

Stokke's passion for the material inspires students to become extremely engaged and work hard to succeed in her classes. "I lose track of time during her lectures," said one of her students. "She makes extremely complicated material simple. She makes learning math fun."

UWinnipeg student Gabriella Borelli said that Stokke's first-year calculus course changed her life. "If it was not for Dr. Stokke's excellent teaching and inspiration, I do not believe I would have pursued a career in math. She truly is my role model. I strongly believe that if every student had the opportunity to learn through Dr. Stokke's teaching, there would not only be far more students pursuing a career in mathematics, but there would also be a significant increase in students confident in their mathematical ability."

Stokke's passion extends beyond her classroom. Former students who have become teachers often look to her for advice when teaching their own students. When Max Bennett became a math teacher, she reached out to him, not only to say congratulations, but also to make sure he had the resources he needed to ensure his students' success.

Dr. Anna Stokke is a gifted educator whose passion for her subject and belief that mathematics can and should be accessible to everyone inspires students to engage, excel, and succeed. The University of Winnipeg is proud to present her with the Clifford J. Robson Memorial Award for Teaching Excellence.

Honourees

Andrea McCluskey

Stars of Spence Street Prize

For more than two decades, Andrea McCluskey dedicated her career to advocating for students who are overcoming cultural, social, and academic barriers.

Often the first point of contact for Indigenous and international students beginning their studies at The University of Winnipeg, she is known for creating a warm, welcoming environment for students navigating a brand-new world.

With both the Aboriginal Student Services Centre (ASSC) and International, Immigrant, and Refugee Student Services (IIRSS), McCluskey's focus has always been to ensure every student that walks through her office door achieves their full potential.

When asked to describe McCluskey, her ASSC colleagues said: "She leads by example – always with unconditional positive regard for students, faculty, and staff."

Throughout her leadership with the ASSC, McCluskey worked countless hours developing a seamless student service model, incorporating academic supports as well as holistic, cultural, and spiritual accommodations all geared towards student success.

McCluskey was instrumental in developing the centre, which opened in 2004 and is a place many Indigenous students call their "home away from home." Under her direction, Indigenous student retention and recruitment rates have steadily increased, reaching 11 per cent of the overall student population.

She was also integral in the development of the Transition Year Program, which helps new Indigenous students build the academic and personal coping skills to foster their post-secondary success.

A talented quilter, McCluskey volunteers her time teaching students the craft while building community, talking about education, and imparting knowledge. Upon the arrival of COVID-19, she began hosting a weekly virtual quilting workshop for Indigenous and international students as a way of welcoming and connecting them.

Over the years, McCluskey's presence has positively affected so many lives at UWinnipeg. Everything she does is because she truly cares about the well-being of the students and her colleagues.

For always leading by example with kindness, compassion, and humanity, The University of Winnipeg is proud to award Andrea McCluskey the Stars of Spence Street Prize.

Honourees

John Lehr

BA, MA, PhD, CertEd

Professor Emeritus

Throughout his 36-year career at The University of Winnipeg, which lasted until his retirement in 2012, John Lehr exemplified creativity, curiosity, and dedication to his work. He was a beloved, enthusiastic, and incredibly well-respected professor in the Department of Geography.

A prolific publisher with more than 100 publications to his name, Lehr was among UWinnipeg's top researchers. He provided works to regional journals and national publications, and presented throughout Canada and abroad. Lehr published six books, including Inside the Ark: The Hutterites in Canada and the United States, with Dr. Yossi Katz, and Community and Frontier: A Ukrainian Settlement in the Canadian Parkland, both of which received the Margaret McWilliams Award for Scholarly History from the Manitoba Historical Society.

Lehr's interest in and research of the settlement of the Canadian prairies is world renowned, and he is an authority on the ways in which ethnic and religious groups such as Hutterites, Ukrainians, Jews, Mennonites, and Mormons shaped the cultural landscape.

Affectionately known as 'Jock', Lehr was always eager to mentor and was a regular thesis supervisor for UWinnipeg's honours students. He encouraged them to refine and deepen their work and to present it both regionally and nationally. Lehr has been praised for his teaching style, affability, willingness to provide guidance, and interest in the careers of students. His influence was recognized in 2005 when he was awarded the Clifford J. Robson Memorial Award For Excellence in Teaching, as chosen by a committee of faculty, staff, and students.

Beyond UWinnipeg, Lehr has served at the national, provincial, and municipal level, including leadership positions with the Canadian Ethnic Studies Association, Social Science and Humanities Research Council Evaluation Committee, Manitoba Museum Board of Governors, Manitoba Historical Society, and Heritage Winnipeg.

For his outstanding scholarship, exceptional research, and commitment to students, The University of Winnipeg is proud to honour John Lehr as Professor Emeritus.

Honourees

Royden Loewen

BA, MA, PhD, CertEd

Professor Emeritus

Royden Loewen is a prolific scholar in the area of Mennonite history. His distinguished work in teaching, mentorship, and research, while serving as Chair in Mennonite Studies for over two decades, reflects his commitment to and extraordinary influence in his field of study.

Loewen's vast range of scholarship delves into economics, gender, and religious life of the everyday, set within migration and environmental history, all with the aim of explaining the survival and transformation of a major cultural group that retains high visibility in Manitoba, across the Americas, and indeed around the world. His enormous body of interdisciplinary study, devoted to the history of Mennonite communities, transcends continents and has illuminated many facets of ethno-cultural and social history. He has continued to receive Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC) funding for his work.

As founding director of the Centre for Transnational Mennonite Studies, Loewen has built on a program established by his predecessor, Dr. Harry Loewen, and looked for opportunities of giving Mennonite Studies a global standing and communicating scholarship to a broad audience that extends beyond academia. He has served as a visiting scholar nationally and internationally, including at Cambridge University.

As Chair in Mennonite Studies, Loewen convened or co-convened 25 conferences and his impressive list of publications include 10 books (that is, 7 monographs, 2 co-authored monographs and 1 edited volume), 25 scholarly articles, 13 book chapters, and 75 book reviews. He has adjudicated 12 book manuscripts. He was editor of the Journal of Mennonite Studies for 24 years and is series editor of the Ethnicity and Culture History Series at University of Manitoba Press.

Loewen's personable nature, sharp intellect, and engaged teaching style enhanced the student experience, undergraduate and graduate alike, and helped advance the students' own career and publication possibilities, cementing his leading role as a scholar in Mennonite historical studies.

For his prodigious scholarship, teaching, and significant contributions to the field of Mennonite history, The University of Winnipeg is proud to honour Royden Loewen as Professor Emeritus.

Honourees

Judith Huebner

BA, MSc, PhD

Fellowship in United College

Throughout her remarkable 45-year career, Judith Huebner made important, lasting contributions in teaching, research, and service.

Arriving at The University of Winnipeg in 1975, Huebner joined the Department of Biology as an instructor during a period of rapid curricular expansion. Over the decades, she took on many teaching roles across the curriculum, as well as coordination of the department's large first-year courses and four-year honours students' theses.

Former department Chair Ed Byard described Huebner as a "clear and committed voice in departmental matters." She was also deeply committed to self-governance and had a sterling record in administrative service: she held the role of Associate Dean of Arts and Science for six years starting in 1992, was Acting Dean in 1997, and served as special assistant to UWinnipeg President Constance Rooke from 1999 – 2002.

In 2002, Huebner returned to the Department of Biology as a professor before becoming Acting Chair of the Departments of Political Science and Women's and Gender Studies. Huebner once again returned to the Department of Biology in 2014, where she served as Chair until her retirement in June 2020.

Whether supporting students, faculty members, or staff, Huebner was committed to the advancement of women in academics. While attentiveness to women's issues may seem an inevitable part of our scholarly and social landscape now, that was far from the case in the early years of her feminist activism.

This integration of real-life activism and academic expertise is evidenced by Huebner's significant role in establishing the Prairie Regional Centre of Excellence for Women's Health, her long-standing service to the Women's Health Clinic, and her work on the advisory panels for the Institute of Women's and Gender Studies and the Margaret Lawrence Endowment for Women's Studies. She has also been a member of the NSERC selection review panel for the Chair in Women in Science and Engineering, and for over a decade was a board member of the Centre of Excellence in Women's Health.

The University of Winnipeg proudly honours Judith Huebner with Fellowship in United College for her distinguished career in academics, self-governance, and activism within the institution.

Honourees

Anya Ingram

BA (Honours)

Valedictorian

Anya Ingram is an accomplished student known for her enthusiasm and passion for human geography, city planning, and public space. Through her studies in geography, Ingram developed interests in the intersection of transportation, public participation, and sustainability in urban environments, with a close eye on community engagement, participatory planning, and gentrification.

Her honours thesis research focused on the relationships between power, mural art, and place making in Winnipeg's West End. The product of this research was a framework of how future mural art could best ensure positive engagement and representation of the community it is embedded within.

Ingram received many accolades throughout her studies, including the 2020 Undergraduate Award for most outstanding student in Classics and the Canadian Association of Geographers 2021 Undergraduate Award for most outstanding graduating student in geography.

Between classes and research, Ingram found time to serve as a teaching assistant for urban and human geography courses and was also a research assistant for the Institute of Urban Studies (IUS). Her favourite part of the university experience was building relationships between students and professors while being actively involved in the Geography and Environmental Studies Student Association (GESA) and the Classics Student Association (CSA), of which she was president in 2019-2020.

In 2019, Ingram participated in UWinnipeg's Regional Geography Field Course in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico and a three-week archaeological field course in Redondo, Portugal. Her travels helped her see urban planning through a fresh lens, and she plans to use these experiences to contribute to urban environments here in Canada.

This fall, Ingram will continue her work on urban environments: beginning a Master of Arts in Planning at the University of Waterloo. She intends to become a professional urban/city planner with a focus on the intersection of transportation, public participation, and sustainability in urban environments.

Honourees

Seeratpal Kaur Jaura

BSc (Honours)

Valedictorian

Seeratpal Kaur Jaura says her three years at The University of Winnipeg provided her with the “platform and opportunities to be the best version of myself.”

“From gaining academic knowledge, teaching experience, and leadership qualities to building lifelong relationships, I’ve gained experiences here that will help me transition into the real world,” Jaura said.

Outside of the classroom, Jaura’s most memorable time as a student was spent being co-president of the UWinnipeg Applied Computer Science Students’ Association and taking the initiative to bring more diverse perspectives to the subject.

Graduating with a major in applied computer science and a minor in mathematics, Jaura now has her sights set on the University of Alberta, where she will be pursuing a Master of Science this fall in computing science with a specialization in artificial intelligence.

She credits Jeanette Bautista, Ron McFadyen, and Dr. Sheela Ramanna – all of whom she considers “like family” – for making a positive impact on her during her studies. More specifically, Jaura’s research experience last summer with Dr. Ramanna gave her the confidence to apply for graduate studies.

Looking ahead, Jaura’s dream is to one day complete a PhD and become an educator so she can help shape future generations and contribute to the growth of her community.

For the Class of 2021, Jaura shares this piece of advice: “Don’t be afraid to try out new things, because you never know what treasure life holds for you. I am confident we can go out into the real world and achieve remarkable things because at the end of the day, our skills are only worthwhile if they bring happiness to someone’s life.”

Honourees

Cain Kiddell

BSc, BEd

Valedictorian

Cain Kiddell envisions his future classroom as an inclusive learning environment where all students are empowered to thrive.

He spent his early twenties facilitating skateboard camps in Winnipeg's inner city, an experience that fueled his desire to become a teacher.

"The exposure to the systemic barriers that impact the individuals living in the inner-city inspired me to pursue a career where I can help address these problems," he said.

One of his most memorable university experiences was in a first-year earth science course with Dr. Ed Cloutis. The lecture began normally enough with Cloutis explaining about sedimentary layers of rocks and their physical and chemical properties.

"Then, mid-sentence, he takes the piece of chalk in his hand and begins to eat it, with no explanation, and carries on with the lesson," said Kiddell.

Kiddell went on to work in Cloutis's C-TAPE laboratory where he excelled as a research assistant. In this role, he engaged in field research locally and internationally and was first author on a research article in The Journal of Geophysical Research, as well as co-author of research articles in Icarus and The Astronomical Journal.

Years after their first meeting, Kiddell asked Cloutis about the chalk. He smiled and replied with a question of his own, "how do you get students to pay attention and remember you?"

As Kiddell gets set to embark on a career at the head of his own classroom, it's a lesson he will never forget.

A World of Diversity

Our campus is a place of inclusion and the diversity of our student population is a tremendous strength. While some of our students grew up around the corner, others come from First Nations and Treaty areas across Manitoba, from provinces across Canada, and from communities around the globe who have come here to learn and grow – and we are proud to help them prepare for a bright future and get ready to make their mark on the world.
